

KVHA News – Begin Season with the Right Attitude, Revisit KVHA’s Parents Code of Conduct!

Kent Valley Ice Centre, Kent, WA. Friday, September 2, 2016 – As parents prepare their young hockey players for the new hockey season making sure their hockey equipment is in good order, everything still fits and skates are sharpened, it is also important to revisit Kent Valley’s Parents Code of Conduct. Over the coming weeks each parent will be asked to sign a copy of the Parents Code of Conduct. Click here to review a copy of this important document.

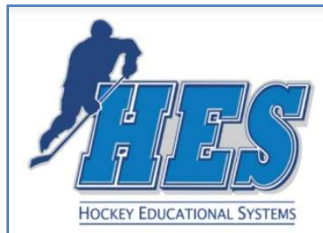

Kent Valley Hockey Association asks parents to consider your role in showing "Respect" for the game, and for the people who make this the great game it is. How much do you RESPECT the game of hockey and all its participants? Take this simple test to see how you rate.

Check off the statements that apply to you:

- The safety of the participants in the game is more important than the final score.
- I value the contribution of the coach in developing the player’s talents, even though I may not always agree with their methods.
- I understand that officials do not make the hockey rules, they only apply them.
- I understand that children learn from adults, and my behavior reflects what I want children to learn.
- I understand that officials are responsible to ensure that the game is played in a safe and fair manner for all participants.
- I understand that players, coaches and officials are learning the game, and mistakes will be made in the learning process.
- I may not cheer for the opposition team, but I will also not cheer against them or verbally abuse them.
- I understand that the biggest reason for players and officials quitting the game is abuse.

(How did you rate? If you checked off 0-2 Step back and check your motives for being involved in the game; 3-4 on your way; 5-6 almost there; 7-8 outstanding)

KVHA and KVIC wish everyone a very safe, pleasant and enjoyable hockey season.

Adult Learn To Play Hockey Clinic 2016

Greater Seattle Hockey League (GSHL) and Hockey Educational Systems (HES) are teaming up once again to offer two great hockey clinics. One focuses on players brand new to hockey, while the other is for those players with some experience but looking to improve their game. New added features this year are three off-ice classes and cash credit vouchers towards GSHL fall team play.

For the first time the clinics will be hosted by Kent Valley Ice Center beginning September 6th through October 2nd. Please click on the link below for full details and registration information.
